Why learn a new language?

Improve your memory and keep your brain healthy: research shows that people who learn languages have better memories than those who don't, and the mental gymnastics that go into mastering a new language can help defend against Alzheimer's and other memory related illnesses.

Change your life: open possibilities that are closed to you without the cultural and language skills you learn with a new language-more job opportunities, live anywhere, travel

Open your mind: language and culture go hand in hand. As you learn to see the world from a new perspective, you grow in empathy and understanding of the different ways people live their lives.

Have fun: explore language with games, songs, plays, food, and traditions.

Why Study Latin?

Reasons Grown-ups give:

- Vocabulary (60% of all the words we speak have their roots in Latin)
- Connections through culture, mythology, and history (this is fun!)
- Analytical skills through the study of grammar

Here are a few reasons why, from a Latin student!

- It's easy and quick
- No speaking tests
- Interesting to learn about mythology and monsters
- It's a great way to make new friends
